

Risen Indeed!

When life knocks me down and I don't know what to do I'll remember your wounds that bore my sin
and rise again for you.

They mocked and ridiculed your name
but you stood in silent Majesty—
the thorny crown,
your perfect blood
leads me to eternity.

When you carried my cross on the road to Calvary each step you took paved a path of love—
my ransom
you set me free!

Death could not keep you for heaven is your home you broke the veil of sin and shame

to make me your very own.
And so no matter what I face
I see you on that cross, your love becomes my greatest strength

through every single loss.
I set my feet upon your path.
each step I take for you—and when I fall down to the ground.

I'll rise again for you.
